My cat is missing

Posted originally on the Archive of Our Own at http://archiveofourown.org/works/67381813.

Rating:
General Audiences

Archive Warning:
No Archive Warnings Apply

Category:
Gen

Fandom:
Superlove - Charise Mericle Harper

Relationships:
Little Girl | Superlove & Pinky (Superlove - Charise Mericle Harper), Little Girl Dad & Little Girl Mom & Little Girl | Superlove

Characters:
Little Girl | Superlove, Pinky (Superlove - Charise Mericle Harper), Little Girl Mom (Superlove - Charise Mericle Harper), Little Girl Dad (Superlove - Charise Mericle Harper)

Additional Tags:
missing pet, Cats, Pets, Children, Cute, Happy Ending, Play Pretend, Mother-Daughter Relationship, Father-Daughter Relationship, Family, child protagonist, Nameless Protagonist, Parent-Child Relationship, Plushies, Short, autistic author, Not Beta Read, Wordcount: 100-500, POV First Person, Cross-Posted on SquidgeWorld, superlove, Ambiguous/Open Ending, Translation, Translated from French

Language:
English

Stats:
Published: 2025-07-11 Words: 250 Chapters: 1/1

My cat is missing

by MiaQc

Summary

A short story in the world of the children's book Superlove by Charise Mericle Harper.
I'm a little girl who loves being someone else. Like Superlove, the magical fairy who gives love to those who need it! But today I don't feel like being Superlove because my cat has disappeared.

- A translation of Mon chat a disparu by MiaQc

I'm a cute little girl who loves to be someone else. Like Superlove, the magical fairy who gives love to those in need and organizes weddings! But today I don't feel like being Superlove because my cat has disappeared.

His name is Pinky. He's never been outside before and he hasn't been home for 3 days. I'm very sad and worried. What if Pinky never comes back?

Mom and Dad try to reassure me. They tell me that our town has an animal shelter. If they find Pinky, they'll call us.

So I spend hours in front of the phone, waiting for the call from the shelter. Mom tries to distract me by inviting me to play with my stuffed animals but I don't feel like playing.

“You could be Superlove again.” Dad suggests. “What do you say?”

"No. I'm too sad to be Superlove today. I miss Pinky!"

And then, the next day, the phone rings. It's the shelter. They've got Pinky! Mom goes to pick him up and I can't wait. When she gets home, she takes Pinky out of a carrier and I give him a big hug.

"PINKY! I'm so happy!"

I cry from joy. Pinky keeps moving all the time.

“I think he wants you to put him down.” Dad says to me.

“Okay.”

I put Pinky on the floor and he climbed up his cat tree. Now that he's back, I can play again and become someone else. Get ready everybody, Superlove is coming!

Please drop by the Archive and comment to let the creator know if you enjoyed their work!